We love this timelapse of a textbook-perfect docking at the #Port of #Mackay on an overcast day. Coming in at 156m in length, this cargo ship was carrying rail wagons for the Bowen Rail Company, which is currently testing and commissioning its new rolling stock and other infrastructure.

👏 thanks to #NQBP Marine Pilot Craig Andrews.

Do you know the journey of fuel from 🌊 to 🚚?

Here's a great pic of the Silver Ellie bringing fuel into wharf 3 at the Port of Mackay.

From here the fuel is taken off the vessel by a marine loading arm that connects to a 400mm pipeline. It then travels at a maximum of 3011 tph along the pipeline and into storage tanks, for delivery by truck when needed.... See more

Apprentices hit the ground running 🏃

Two new faces have joined the Maintenance team at the Port of Mackay.

Riley Mackay and Andrew Vrbanic recently started their electrical (Riley) and plumbing (Andrew) apprenticeships with NQBP.

- 👉 Riley joins the team at NQBP after a stint of work experience sparked his interest in becoming an electrician in his final year at Mirani State High School. A trained lifeguard, the beach setting of our Port makes for the perfect workplace.
- 👉 Andrew (Andy) comes to NQBP after spending time working as an offsider driller in the energy and mining sector. A fan of 4wd'ing and motocross, Andrew says he is excited to work in a new environment and learn 'the port way'.

We think both Riley and Andrew have already demonstrated our Excellence value by choosing NQBP to further their careers, welcome to the team!
